COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS
February 24, 2021

Honorable Judges and AOPC Members:

This letter serves as notification of changes to the Department of Corrections mail policy that may have an effect on your operations. State Correctional Institutions continue to receive mail purportedly to be Legal Mail from courts, but in actuality, the mail is an attempt to introduce drugs into the institutions. Recently, an institution received mail disguised to be from a Court of Common Pleas, but each of the thirty pages of mail within the envelope tested positive for a synthetic drug. Two officers who handled the mail became ill and were taken by ambulance to a hospital. Fortunately, the officers were soon released and do not appear to have suffered any long-term consequences from being exposed to the drug. Therefore, the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections will be requiring that the courts, like the attorneys, utilize Control Numbers when sending mail to incarcerated people.

Effective March 1, 2021, all mail received at any State Correctional Institution that is to be treated as privileged must contain a Control Number. While Attorneys have been required to utilize Control Numbers for well over a year, Courts have been permitted to send in mail to be handled as privileged without Control Numbers as we moved toward mandatory Control Numbers for all privileged mail. Many Court offices throughout the Commonwealth and beyond have already obtained and are utilizing Control Numbers to help in keeping our facilities safe. Moving forward, any mail received at an institution that does not contain a Control Number will be returned to sender.

A Control Number can be obtained by a Court or qualifying entity quickly and easily by following the instructions found at <https://privilegedmails.cor.pa.gov/#/>. As always, mail to an inmate can be sent by anyone, without a Control Number, utilizing the Smart Communications by utilizing the following address:

Smart Communications/PA DOC
Inmate Name/Inmate Number
Institution
PO Box 33028
St Petersburg, Florida 33733

Any questions or issues can be quickly and easily addressed by utilizing the RA-CRMAILPROCEDURES@pa.gov account. Thank you for doing your part in keeping our institutions safe for both staff and inmates.

Sincerely,
